

GOP WINS CONTROL OF CONGRESS

Flood Of Votes For Ike Nears 32,000,000 Mark

Republicans' Majority Slim In Each House

Eight House Races Remain Undecided

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Control of both houses of Congress passed into Republican hands tonight, but by slender majorities which failed to match the electoral landslide which swept Dwight D. Eisenhower into the White House.

With only eight House contests undecided at 10:45 p. m. EST, the GOP had elected 220, or two more than the necessary majority of the 435-member House. Democrats elected 206.

The undecided races appeared about evenly divided between the two parties, with three contests—one for Florida's First District, one for Washington at large and one for Missouri's 11th District—likely to be decided only by absentee ballots.

At this point in all-but-complete tabulation of Tuesday's balloting, Republicans had scored 23 House gains while the Democrats had overturned six Republicans for a net GOP gain of 17.

Potter Upsets Sen. Moody

Upsetting pre-election odds, the GOP made unexpected inroads into what had appeared to be a safe Democratic Senate majority.

The surge of the Eisenhower sweep carried Republicans to a hairline edge when Rep. Charles Potter, legless war veteran, late today upset Democratic Sen. Blair Moody to win Michigan's junior Senate seat for the GOP.

Potter's victory gave the Republicans 49 seats (if Sen. Morse of Oregon is counted) and left the Democrats with 47. This exactly reversed the Democratic 49-47 edge in the present Congress.

Forty-nine is a bare majority. But the degree of Republican control was obscured by the tantalizing question posed by Oregon's insurgent Sen. Wayne Morse.

Morse, a Republican, bolted that party during the campaign and threw his support to Gov. Adlai Stevenson for the presidency.

As a Republican "independent"—as he now describes himself—Morse could throw the Senate into a 48-48 tie by voting with the Democrats.

Nixon Will Break Ties
In a situation of this sort, the tie-breaking vote is cast by the Senate's presiding officer—who after next Jan. 20 will be the Republican vice president, Richard Nixon.

With Potter's victory over Sen. Moody, the Republicans elected 23 of the candidates, with 26 hold-over senators (if Morse is counted with the Republicans). The Democrats elected 12 of their Senate candidates, with 35 holdovers.

Eight incumbent senators were beaten in yesterday's voting, four Republicans and four Democrats.

GOP victims were Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign manager before the Chicago National Convention; James P. Kem of Missouri; Harry Cain of Washington and Zales Eton of Montana.

Democratic losers were Ernest McFarland of Arizona, the majority leader; the veteran Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming; William Benton of Connecticut; and Thomas Underwood of Kentucky.

Chambers Seriously Ill Of Heart Attack

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, the man who put the finger on Alger Hiss, lay seriously ill of a heart attack in St. Agnes Hospital here today.

The 52-year-old Chambers, admitted one-time courier for a Communist spy ring, suffered the attack Monday on his farm near Westminster, Md., and was taken to the hospital here yesterday. His condition is expected to remain serious for some time.

Chambers was the principal witness against Hiss, one-time high State Department official now in a Federal penitentiary. Hiss was convicted for lying under oath when he said he didn't know Chambers and never gave him government secrets for transmission to the spy ring.

Ike Confirms Korea Pledge, Rests In Ga.

Offered Independence For Trip, General Prefers Military Plane

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 5 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower—who cracked the traditionally Democratic Solid South in winning the election—got a warm welcome on arrival in this Dixie city late today for a vacation.

Beaming happily but obviously tired, the general and Mrs. Eisenhower drove through crowded streets to the exclusive Augusta National Club just outside the city.

Eisenhower plans a 10-day vacation at the club. He flew here from New York, arriving shortly before 6 p. m. EST.

On the way to the golf club, Eisenhower had a military police motorcycle escort—something he never had during the campaign.

With him, too, were Secret Service agents who took over protection of the President-elect early today, shortly after Stevenson conceded.

Before leaving New York for the 10-day rest in Augusta, the President-elect confirmed to President Truman his campaign pledge to go to Korea to try to end the warfare there.

Truman sent him a telegram offering him the use of the presidential plane. Independence, but the general replied that a military service transport plane would be satisfactory.

No Indication Of Date
The Republican presidential victor gave no indication of the date of the trip.

He accepted another Truman offer to have a representative sit in on discussions of the budget to be presented to the next session of Congress.

Aides said they knew of no date for the Korean trip. They said he intended to complete his 10 scheduled days in Georgia. After that he probably would confer with the Joint Chiefs of Staff before taking off on his Pacific journey.

Before leaving for the South, Eisenhower had received congratulatory messages from Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, and President Truman.

Truman congratulated him on what he called "your overwhelming victory" and offered the plane "if you still desire to go to Korea."

He added that "you should have a representative meet with the director of the budget immediately."

Eisenhower replied: "I am most appreciative of your offer of the use of the Independence, but assume you that any suitable transport plane that one of the services could make available will be satisfactory for my planned trip to Korea."

"With your permission, I shall give the secretary of defense the earliest possible notice of my departure."

Eisenhower was accompanied on his Southern flight in a chartered Eastern Airline plane by his wife, Mamie; her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the latter's three children.

A sampling of frontline troop reaction ranged from solid approval to deep disappointment.

The armed forces radio beamed election results in short-wave broadcasts from the States and Tokyo to eight outlet stations in Korea in a continuous day-long program.

Truman Asks White House Talk With Ike

President Moves For National Unity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Truman today proposed a quick White House conference with the man who will take his place—a meeting to convince the world, Truman said, "that this nation is united in its struggle for freedom and peace."

The outgoing President, hiding any disappointment under a manner of jauntiness, disclosed at a highly informal and rather sad session with photographers and on-looking reporters that he had telegraphed this invitation to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman had a little more to say—that the Democrats, though they have suffered a crushing election defeat, will try again another day.

Best "To Close Ranks"
"In the meantime," he said, "it will be in the best interest of all of us to close ranks and work together for our mutual welfare as citizens of this great republic."

Truman today came home—to his temporary home—under striking different circumstances than he returned to Washington just four years ago.

Then he was a conquering hero, the little man who couldn't possibly have been elected president in his own right—but was elected nonetheless. Vast crowds, showers of confetti, a city-wide outburst of adulation greeted him in 1948.

Today there was a loyal crowd at Union Station. But elsewhere there was only the lonely shadow of defeat. Truman himself had bowed out. But he staked the record of his administration on Adlai Stevenson. And the nation voted it down to crumbling defeat.

Somber Statement
Truman had nothing to say when he left the whistle stop special train that carried him a fruitless 18,000 miles of campaigning for Stevenson.

But two hours later he put out a somber statement saying his successor will have extremely hard problems to solve, especially in foreign affairs.

"I am inviting the general," Truman said, "to meet with me here in the White House at an early date to discuss these problems, in order that it may be plain to the whole world that our people are united in the struggle for freedom and peace."

GOP Wins Four Governorships From Democrats

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Republicans captured at least four governorships from the Democrats in Tuesday's voting, while holding onto all of their own.

Of the 30 governors' seats up in this year's elections, the Republicans elected or reelected their men to 19. Democrats succeeded Democrats in nine other states. The vote counts were not yet conclusive in Michigan or Montana.

Counting holdovers, and Republican Burton M. Cross who was elected governor of Maine Sept. 8, the GOP could rely on a minimum of 29 statehouse footholds. And in Montana Republican J. Hugo Aronson persistently held on to a thin lead over Gov. John W. Bonner, a Democrat.

Going with the election, the Republicans held a 25-23 margin over the Democrats in governorships. Considering the power and patronage at the disposal of governors, this may have been a factor in the general Republican triumph.

Illinois voters rejected Gov. Adlai Stevenson's candidate to succeed him in the Springfield capitol, Democrat Lt. Gov. Sherwood P. Dixon bowed to William G. Stratton, a Republican, by more than 200,000 votes.

In Ohio, however, Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche took the measure of Republican Charles F. Taft, brother of Ohio's junior senator.

Massachusetts' Gov. Paul A. Dever, keynote speaker at the Democratic national convention, was knocked off by Republican Congressman Christian A. Herter, who was rated a long-shot by pre-election doers.

The victory of Democrat William C. Marland in West Virginia over former Sen. Rush D. Holt, Republican, became final late today. Marland was supported by Mine Union Boss John L. Lewis.

To a newsman's question, "What about 1956?" Wyatt replied: "Only the future can tell. But I told Gov. Stevenson and others today that our feeling was 'Adlai Stevenson for 1956.'"

Wyatt said that the issues as drawn by Stevenson in the campaign "are the issues for the Democratic party during the next four years."

South Korean Troops Move Up

This main road junction is in what was once the Korean town of Kumhwa in the Triangle Hill area, but continued U. N. and Communist artillery fire has virtually obliterated it. As an MP watches, a truckload of ROK troops move up a road which had just been under fire. The white smoke screen in the background is to protect the movements of U. N. forces.

Ike May Select State, Defense Chiefs Quickly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—High Truman administration officials expressed hope today that Dwight Eisenhower will select his secretaries of state and defense and set them to work in the departments studying U. S. foreign and military problems by the end of this month.

Some of President Truman's advisers believe Truman should take the lead in inviting such a move as a means of bridging the break between administrations next Jan. 20. Defense Secretary Lovett some time ago publicly advocated steps along this line.

Acheson Remains In Capital

Secretary of State Acheson canceled a flight back to New York this afternoon. He took a break in his direct leadership of the United States delegation at the United Nations to vote in nearby Maryland yesterday. Then, instead of returning as he had planned, he made a date to see Truman.

It was believed the problem of how to go about bringing Eisenhower men into the government, possibly as consultants to the retiring Truman officials, probably was a subject for discussion.

There has been no election break in continuity of the government for 20 years. The nearest thing to a changeover to a new administration came in 1945 when President Roosevelt's death put Truman in office. But the transition to a new set of officials under the new President was an extremely slow process.

Problems Complicated

During the past 20 years the diplomatic and military problems of the United States have become extremely complicated because of America's role of leadership of the free nations in the conflict with Russia. The argument of administration officials here is that the demand for informed decisions goes on from day to day and the man who takes over on Jan. 20 should be prepared instantly to issue the orders that may be required to protect the nation's security or give it the right direction in the conflict with Russia.

At a minimum they would like to see Eisenhower's secretaries and undersecretaries of state and defense placed in position where they could read all secret documents and consult the career officials who will remain when Truman appointees have passed out of the picture.

They have held high place in the councils during the 20-year Democratic regime. There is every expectation that some of them will still be invited in, but none of them really expects to speak now with anything like the authority they had before the votes were counted.

Union bosses conceded privately today that their hopes for repealing the Taft-Hartley labor law and achieving other union aims had been practically buried under the GOP's avalanche of votes.

Virtually all the labor organization leaders had backed the Democrats but both the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations came out today with pledges of support for the Republican President—elect, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Both big groups had been all-out supporters of Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

William Green, AFL president, and George Meany, secretary-treasurer, sent a congratulatory message to Eisenhower saying: "The AFL accepts the verdict of the American people. We call upon our eight million members to give every possible support in resisting Communist aggression and making peace and freedom secure."

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO's Political Action Committee (PAC), said in a statement that Eisenhower had been "selected as the president of all the American people—he is entitled to their support in carrying out the duties and obligations of that high office."

Hallinan Didn't Expect To Win So Doesn't Concede

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Vincent Hallinan, Progressive party candidate for president, said today he didn't have to concede defeat because he didn't expect to win.

He said, however, his party is so successfully organized that it would win some congressional seats in 1954.

By then, he said, the public "will be ready to throw the Republicans out of office. The American people and organized labor will soon find out they are in for a rough time."

Hallinan, 55, is a San Francisco attorney.

Defeat Accepted Calmly By Adlai

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, calmly accepting the crushing defeat to his White House bid, put in a busy day at the executive mansion today on state business.

Smiling and seemingly in good spirits, the governor chatted informally for a few minutes with newsmen who paid him a visit at the mansion office.

On the long glass-topped table in the office were baskets of flowers and stacks of telegrams apparently sent by supporters of his losing cause.

Around the mansion, which served as home base of the Democratic candidate's presidential campaign, there was a quick transformation. The hustle and excitement of the last three months was replaced by the slower-moving pace of conducting state affairs.

Other campaign nerve centers in the Leland Hotel and a rented house near the mansion were rapidly being deserted.

ROKs Ordered To Halt Assault On Triangle Hill

SEOUL, Thursday, Nov. 6 (AP)—Allied leaders ordered courageously charging South Korean troops to break off their seventh frontal attack on Triangle Hill during daylight Wednesday and let artillery power take over the brunt of battle.

Dispatches said the decision came during a visit of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander, to the blazing Central Front.

Valiant South Korean troops pulled a surprise attack against the bloody Triangle Hill mass, North of Kumhwa, at 4 a. m., without artillery preparation.

10 Yards Short Of Top
One assault wave after another hit the crest, but the highest the South Koreans could reach was 10 yards short of the top.

The Republic of Korea troops, now in the 24th day of battle for the hill, fought hand to hand with grenades, while Allied and Communist artillery and mortar guns duelled thunderously across the Kumhwa Valley.

Then, after 11 hours of battle, Korean infantrymen pulled back off Triangle and consolidated their lines at the base of that battle-chewed hill mass.

Reds Fall At Sniper Ridge

On nearby Sniper Ridge the same thing happened, only this time it was the Chinese Communists who failed. The Reds assaulting Pinpoint Hill, highest point of the long ridge, were knocked back by Allied shells and South Korean machineguns.

Allied planes supported front line troops throughout the day in heavy bomb, rocket and jellied gasoline fire bomb attacks.

The battle of the Kumhwa ridges has become one of the costliest of the Korean War. The Reds have lost more than 12,000 dead and wounded—more than a division. Allied casualties were not given but have been high.

Once Warring Political Clans Begin Uniting

Record Vote May Reach 60,000,000

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

A record avalanche of votes gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the presidential election yesterday and the GOP control of Congress.

With the great 1952 battle for the White House and Capitol Hill settled at last, the nation's once warring political clans began uniting beneath the Eisenhower standard.

The flood of votes for the old soldier rolled near the 32 million level.

Early last night control of Senate and House were put definitely in Republican hands, although the margins were thin and shaky. The party at that time had 49 senators, including independent Wayne Morse, and 218 House members—in each instance a controlling majority.

Adlai Calls For Unity

Gov. Stevenson of Illinois faded into the silence of defeat. As his hopes of carrying on a 20-year Democratic dynasty collapsed around him, Stevenson also had summoned his fellow Americans to unite behind his conqueror and advance together "in freedom and dignity and peace."

Soon it's back to private life for the Democratic candidate.

But already weighty problems at home and abroad are pressing in on Eisenhower.

The Congress which will handle his legislative proposals will have no more than a razor edge Republican majority in either Senate or House. For an effective working arrangement with the lawmakers, Eisenhower must rely on some Democratic help.

In the past, a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats has been able pretty much to have its own way on domestic affairs, often balking the will of the White House. How well Eisenhower can work with such a line-up is a matter of uncertainty. But he did make many political friends in Dixie in a campaign that split up the once Solid South.

FDR's Record Shattered
With returns from only 11,907 of the total of 146,361 precincts missing early last night, Eisenhower had piled up a popular vote of 31,691,542 to 25,501,569 for Stevenson. Nobody had ever come close to that before—not even the late President Roosevelt with all his popular appeal and political wizardry.

Roosevelt had polled the previous high for any presidential candidate, 27,751,597 against Alf M. Landon in 1936.

The total for both Eisenhower and Stevenson seemed headed toward the 60 million mark—another all-time record far above the previous peak of 49,820,312 in the Roosevelt-Wilkie race of 1940.

And the Eisenhower showing was even more impressive on the electoral vote scale—the one that counts in spelling out victory.

Eisenhower was a winner or leading early last night in 39 states with 442 electoral votes, Stevenson in 9 with 89 votes. It took only 268 to go over the top to victory.

Top Polltakers Admit They Were Overly Cautious

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — The professional pollsters admitted today they were too cautious in their presidential predictions.

The polltakers, remembering their bitter lesson of 1948, when President Truman scored an upset over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, backed away from flat predictions in the final days of this year's campaign.

All appeared to give Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower a slight margin, but two said the undecided vote before election day could have spelled victory for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and the Democrats. None foresaw the Republican landslide.

Here are predictions by some of the major pollsters and what they said afterward:

Elmo Roper, head of the Roper poll — "There ought to be enough people still undecided to throw this election either way."

Today, Roper conceded he was "open to the charge of being overly cautious this year." But, he added, "I made no prediction, and I don't ever intend to make a prediction until those undecided people tell us what they intend to do."

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion — "Continuation of acceleration of the trend to Gov. Stevenson x x x would give him a majority of the popular vote x x x. Gallup's last poll, however, gave Eisenhower 47 per cent and Stevenson 40 per cent of the popular vote, with 13 per cent undecided."

Gallup, a prime target of President Truman after Gallup picked Gov. Dewey to win four years ago, said today:

"We'll let President Truman eat the crow this year. It's good to be on the right side. We profited from our experience in 1948."

Archibald M. Crossley, director of the Crossley poll, also had predicted this election could have gone either way.

Today, Crossley said the big Republican effort to get out the vote apparently turned the trick.

Maryland Voters OK Amendments

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP) — Voters yesterday approved two new amendments to Maryland's constitution.

One overhauls the state budget system, requiring that the governor recommend and various departments request appropriations to indicate how much each state function will cost.

The present 30-year-old system itemizes appropriations in tremendous detail. It sets up such a huge pile of documents that legislators are unable to get to the essence of the matters.

Under the new arrangement, lawmakers will get abbreviated detail to study as reference material.

The second amendment makes it possible for Baltimore City to add more land to its port. Under present law, the Port Commission lacks authority to condemn property.

The amendment makes it possible for the Legislature to give to the city permission for it to take over specified land as a purchase, gift or through condemnation proceedings.

M'Arthur "Delighted" At Republican Victory

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur commented to an aide today he was "delighted" at the Republican victory but made no direct mention of Republican President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Col. Sidney L. Huff said he asked Gen. MacArthur for comment on the election this morning when he saw him at his Waldorf-Astoria residence.

COMIC PAYS OFF ELECTION BET—Chic Johnson (right) of the comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, picked the wrong candidate Tuesday and pays off by scrubbing an elephant at State and Madison Streets in the heart of Chicago's Loop. Wearing a smug grin is his partner, Ole Olsen, who won the bet.

Lankford Refuses To Give Up Hope

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 5 (AP) — Richard E. Lankford, apparently on the losing end in the only close Maryland race in yesterday's election, refused to give up hope today.

The young Annapolis attorney was 822 votes behind Frank Small on the basis of complete but unofficial returns from their contest for Maryland's Fifth District congressional seat.

A spokesman for Lankford, Democratic member of Maryland's House of Delegates, said the margin is so narrow the outcome cannot be determined until completion of the official canvass.

Suicide Makes Sure Husband Not Blamed

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 5 (AP) — Police said Mrs. Mary E. Cummings, 34, telephoned a woman friend today and told her:

"I want you to hear this, honey, so they will not lay it onto Irving."

The friend, Mrs. Ruby Ryan, said she then heard a shot.

Mrs. Cummings' husband, Irving, was found lying on the dining room floor. She died two hours later.

World Views Ike Victory With Both Hope, Misgivings

(By The Associated Press) Many officials and newspapers of the free world expressed pleasure yesterday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had won the U. S. election, but some misgivings were obvious.

The Republican standard bearer's landslide parried political seismographs adjusted for 20 years to the doings of Democratic administrations. Socialists particularly, in power and out, viewed the election results coolly.

Western Europe, which has known Eisenhower as both conqueror and liberator, received the news with polite utterances and an undercurrent of uneasiness.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill cabled Eisenhower congratulations. He foresaw a renewal of their work together for the cause of peace and freedom.

Stores In Hagerstown, Frederick To Close On Saturday Nights

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 5 (AP) — Buying habits of farmers and working hours of clerks in Hagerstown and Frederick will be undergoing a change after the first of the year.

Major retail stores in both cities will discontinue traditional Saturday night shopping starting in January in favor of Friday night, following a pattern established in many metropolitan centers in the East.

Merchants who agree on the late-Friday, early-Saturday closings say the program will help prevent the loss of clerks to higher-paying jobs in industry. The earlier Saturday closing will give the employees longer week ends.

Portraits Of 10 Russian Rulers Go Up In Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP) — Portraits of 10 Soviet leaders went up today on central Moscow buildings in preparation for the November 7 celebration of the revolution anniversary. These were pictures of Joseph Stalin and nine of his closest comrades in arms.

Pictured at either side of Prime Minister Stalin were V. M. Molotov and Georgi M. Malenkov. The others are Marshals Nicolai Bulganin and Klimenty Voroshilov, Lazar Kaganovich, Anastas Mikoyan, Lavrenty Beria, N. S. Khrushchev and N. M. Shvernik.

The appearance of Soviet leaders' portraits on the occasion of the anniversary is taken as a barometer of Soviet leadership. This dispatch indicates that the supreme ruling group of the Soviet Union is still made up of a handful of men, despite the abolition of the Politburo of 12 members and its replacement by a party presidium of 25 members and 11 alternates.

Missing from the top ruling layer are two who previously were on the Politburo: A. N. Kosygin, a light industry expert, and A. A. Andreyev, an agriculture specialist.

PIN-WORMS

MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms. . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P.W. Tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels, before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved, ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first signs of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P.W. Vermicide. . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Pfc. C. J. Keel Killed In Action

A local youth, the second member of his family to pay the supreme sacrifice in war, was killed in action in Korea on October 28, according to word received by his parents from the Department of Defense.

The casualty, Pfc. Charles J. Keel, 20, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Keel, 30 Orchard Street. His brother, Roy C. Keel, was killed in action while serving in Northern France during World War II.

Born in Wellersburg, Pa., Pfc. Keel attended Allegany High School and was employed in Roanoke, Va., before entering the service July 28, 1951. He received his basic training at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., and was sent overseas to the Free Territory of Trieste on December 31, 1951.

Pfc. Keel was transferred to duty in the Far East in August of this year, being stationed in Japan and then in Korea. He was in the front lines just 10 days before he received his fatal wound on October 28, the day he died.

He was serving with Company G, 160th Infantry Regiment, at the time of his death.

To The Future

The sweet fruits of victory which have been so long denied are made even sweeter by the overwhelming repudiation of the Truman regime by the American people.

Observation and past performance lead one to believe that the unpopularity of Harry Truman coupled with the obvious popularity of America's No. 1 hero, Dwight Eisenhower, were the dominant factors in Tuesday's election.

The proof of the pudding is in the landslide proportions of the Republican victory—a complete repudiation of the corrupt mess in Washington, the limp foreign policy and the spineless policy at home as directed by Harry Truman.

Without question, the mandate of the people shows they want a leader who knows where he is going.

Results of the election obviously put a tremendous burden upon the shoulders of Dwight Eisenhower, but we believe that the general is a man big enough to shoulder the burden and come out winning. After all, Ike never has been a loser. He is a winner and thinks and acts as a winner.

Along with the victory of General Eisenhower, the people of Allegany County should be happy over the success of their native son, J. Glenn Beall, in his campaign for election to the United States Senate.

Mr. Beall is the first Allegany Countian to be elected to the Senate by vote of the people and his great margin of victory here is an indication of the high esteem in which he is held by the people who know him best, his neighbors.

Besides this, voters of the Sixth District saw fit to elect a young man, DeWitt S. Hyde, as their congressman and Mr. Hyde has assured Western Marylanders he is conscious of their needs to the extent that he will maintain an office in Cumberland for the benefit of his constituents in this part of the state.

The victory for the Republican party and those who represent its views is indeed a heartening development and an outspoken demand by the American people for a return to government of the people, by the people and for the people.

It is our opinion, however, that the joy of victory should be tempered somewhat by the sobering realization that the Republican party and the American people face difficult times and problems that cannot be solved with the waving of a magic wand.

With the leadership of a Dwight Eisenhower, the co-operation of a Republican Congress and the support of the American people we think the problems can be licked.

Plaguey "Three Rs"

In an era when a high school diploma at least is an absolute requisite to employment in many fields, complaint is frequently heard that entrants upon business careers cannot spell, that they are poor at figuring and at great difficulty in expressing themselves in writing.

Blame is put upon failure properly to stress "the Three Rs" in the "good old-fashioned way" that theoretically turned all pupils out proficient in these respects. Of course it did nothing of the sort, for anybody who remembers his or her days in elementary school, at whose door the blame is laid, knows all did not attain the same level of proficiency.

Now comes the Association for Supervisors and Curriculum Development of the National Education Association in a 152-page booklet on "The Three Rs in the Elementary School," in which 100 educators participate. The conclusion reached is that "the children who are taught by the modern methods outstrip their parents and grandparents in the Three Rs, when achievement at given grade levels then and now is compared."

This is not an "off the cuff" defense, but is based on careful research. Says the foreword:

"The Three Rs, functionally developed, are more important in the living of all people today than they ever were in the past, and these abilities are best developed in a total, meaningful setting, not in isolated periods of the school day."

Teachers, parents and school administrators, it is argued, had best recognize that "no teacher can expect to keep a group of children entirely at the same level," and it is useless and harmful to try to drive a child beyond his capacity. Elementary school work should be made interesting, runs the argument, not a forcing process of learning things by rote, but with the child inspired to learn because he is made to see a reason for it.

Stiffness At Court

In Britain, court circles are noted for their stiffness, even in this modern age. Thus it came about that the premier duke of the realm, the Duke of Norfolk, in charge of Queen Elizabeth's coronation, ruled that the ceremonies of Westminster Abbey should not be televised.

The resulting row involved the court to an extent with few precedents. The Queen herself is reported to have no objection to a televised coronation. The entire British press, Conservative and Labor alike, was unanimous in denouncing the ban on television. Prime Minister Churchill decided to bring the issue before a cabinet meeting.

In general the British government, whatever its political complexion, has been open to new ideas, new techniques, affecting public relations. Yet to limit the sight of the coronation to the 8,000 guests who are the limit of the Abbey's accommodation would be stupid. The Duke of Norfolk thought it would be sufficient to televise the coronation procession through the streets of London.

This would be like televising the inaugural parade of the next President, but dropping a curtain over the inaugural itself. From all accounts, the British court is a stickler for tradition. Otherwise it wouldn't be a court. But if, in all truth, as Churchill suggested at the time of the Queen's accession, there is to be a new Elizabethan age, it will not get far if the British public is to be left out.

Penny Shortage Whipped

It would be interesting to hear the explanation for alleviation of the penny shortage which plagued the country several months ago. People were urged to empty piggy banks, fruit jars and pockets and get the copper coins back in circulation. It would be physically impossible, it was said, for the mints to turn out enough of these lowly monetary units to supply the demand.

Nothing has been heard of this shortage for months. Did inflation finally make the penny obsolete, or what? Or has the velocity of pennies been stepped up greatly by people passing them on as soon as they become the recipients of pennies?

How To Keep Well

Sciatica From Excess Fluid

Are lumbago and sciatica related? An English physician believes so and comes up with the idea that both conditions result from a slipped disk in the lower spine and that sciatica follows lumbago as the basic disturbance (herniated disk) progresses.

The disk is the gristly cushioning material between the vertebrae. It may be forced out of place by sudden force or strain. As a result, the spinal cord or the roots of the sciatic nerve are pressed upon and 95 per cent of all cases of sciatica can be traced to this cause. Distress subsides when the disk slips back into place spontaneously but should it fail to do so surgery may be needed for the relief of pressure.

The English physician mentioned, suggests that sciatica is brought on by a chemical change in the cushioning material which induces it to swell and protrude. In his opinion, the disk contains a mucopolysaccharide having hygroscopic properties. For this reason, under certain conditions such as exposure to wet and cold, an abnormal amount of fluid accumulates in the disk. As pressure mounts, backache develops and when disk protrusion occurs the nerve root is impinged upon and pain in the back begins to shoot down the back of the leg to the knee and ankle. He postulates further that the original backache is lumbago and notes that many victims have had a bout or two before the appearance of sciatica. It is too soon to pass judgment on this idea but it could explain the association of these two disorders and why some persons afflicted with sciatica do not recall a fall or an injury prior to its development.

In sciatica, distress is confined to the back and one leg or the other. At first, there is more or less constant burning discomfort, with stiffness in the lower back and down along the course of the sciatic nerve to the knee. As the disturbance increases in severity, pain has a tendency to travel, shoot or zip through the back of the thigh, into the knee and calf, and sometimes down into the foot. Coughing, sneezing and riding in a car may aggravate discomfort but as a rule the victim is plagued by pain regardless of what he does. Now and then the foot tingles, prickles, burns, or feels numb. Unless pressure is relieved, many find it more and more difficult to walk and in time start limping.

Surgery is not always required. Relief often is obtained by spending two or three weeks in bed, especially on a hard mattress. Afterward the individual must pay particular attention to the spinal column and never lift an object without keeping the back rigid. A support such as a corset or brace helps in this respect. Unless these rules are followed, a slight twist or strain may be all that is needed to force the disk out of place.

TOMORROW: Dr. Van Dellen discusses orthodontia; the correction of tooth irregularities.

TWINS

M. J. writes: One of my twins was born with a thyroid deficiency for which the doctor has prescribed thyroid extract. Isn't it unusual for only one twin to be affected with a disorder of this type?

REPLY

Fraternal twins rarely have the same disease.

WHY PROCRASTINATE?

T. C. writes: If a person suspects that he has liver trouble, should he wait until he turns yellow before seeing a doctor?

REPLY

You sound yellow now—from fright. It is wise to seek medical advice whenever liver involvement is suspected.

VEIN DISORDERS

L. P. writes: What's the difference between phlebitis and thrombophlebitis?

REPLY

Phlebitis means inflammation of a vein; in thrombophlebitis there is an accompanying blood clot.

Baering Down ON THE NEWS

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

In case the winner of Tuesday's raffle doesn't remember his promises let's use an old egg-beater for a book-mark.

He promised every farmer an outdoor movie on that bottom forty.

He promised the workman two six-month's vacation twice a year. With pay.

He promised the white collar worker a short but merry living wage.

He promised to put subway straps within reach of the average New Yorker.

He promised to fill in the Grand Canyon with canceled mortgages, to furnish good will on earth and parking space to all, and to wear out the lead in the pencil before the eraser.

Well, that's plenty of promises but what happened to the other fellow?

He lost because he ran out of promises.

Foreign Affairs Need Attention; Shocking Communist Propaganda Must Be Counteracted; Crimes Charged To Americans Like Katyn Murders

WASHINGTON—With the hectic election period over, the United States will have to give some attention to our badly neglected field of foreign affairs, particularly to the wave of anti-American propaganda now sweeping the various parts of the world.

For some time, due to the charges and countercharges of the candidate, positive policy by the State Department has been pretty much suspended. So, likewise, with some of our most important allies. Both Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Schuman have delayed any important pronouncements on foreign affairs until after elections; in fact, even urged other United Nations members to postpone the General Assembly meeting until after November 4.

One of the most shocking developments which the United States will have to do something about is the barrage of scurrilous propaganda in Korea, charging us with atrocities against Korean women. The details in some cases are almost too revolting to be printed in family newspapers, but Russian and satellite publications are spewing this poison every day.

While the Voice of America is trying to counteract it, its budget, thanks to the pruning of irascible Sen. Pat McCarran, has been drastically cut.

Here are illustrations of what the North Koreans are telling Asia about us.

Eerie Tales

North Korean newspaper Minchu Chosen reports this eerie account of UN troops in the district of Echun:

"American soldiers picked all the young women out of the crowd (of natives) and locked them in empty warehouses. All the women were then raped. The American butchers began to brand patches on the women's bodies with heated irons and nails."

"All the women who resisted the ravishers had a wire put through their nose by the Americans and they were led by this wire through the village. The monsters gouged out the eyes of many women and hacked lumps of flesh out of their bodies."

"The butchers disembowled several pregnant women who fell into their hands during the temporary occupation of the town of Sariven."

The journal New Korea also reported in a recent issue that Americans "tortured more than 700 patriots near Mount Miro-san." This lying article, obviously dictated by a higher Communist echelon, went on to say:

"The murderers seared them with heated irons, knocked out their teeth, cut off their noses, and gouged out their eyes. They led the women naked through the streets and then shot them. In the village of Duchun, P'yongyang district, the American bandits arranged a so-called 'exhibition of Reds'. After tying the hands and feet of 130 patriots, they bound them to trees and for a long time gave them no food. All the 130 people died."

"Once," the Communist article continued, "the American butchers led more than 30 young women and girls on the street in this village. Many of the women had children. The American monsters brought this group to the Kelyagor Gorge, where a pit several meters long was already dug."

"The women were placed at the edge of the pit. One of the escorts went up to a woman with a child in her arms and bayoneted her from behind and then kicked the body into the pit. Seeing this, the remaining women attempted to save themselves by flight, but the enemy bullets overtook them. All the women were killed and their bodies thrown into the gorge."

Gore And Lies

With typical Communist relish for mixing gore and lies, the New Korea added: "In the village of Saphenni, Senen rural district, about 200 women were subjected to mockery. Outraging the defenseless women, the butchers stripped them naked and tied them up in groups of five and ten. The butchers used these women as live targets for pistol shooting."

"During the withdrawal from the district of Yanyan, the occupiers took with them a large group of the inhabitants of the district. These exhausted people were told by the Americans that they were being evacuated to a safe place. The Americans then called up aircraft by radio."

"Fighter planes dived on the defenseless people and brutally beat to machine-gun them. In this way more than 300 guiltless people died."

We know, for instance, that the Communists long ago trademarked the brutal practice of leading Koreans and Chinese they considered "traitors" or "pro-American" down a village street with a wire through their noses. This also happened to American officers captured by the Communists in Seoul.

Communist Brutality

The custom of tying victims together in groups and to trees before murdering them also is a Communist practice. The above-mentioned "gorge" murders near Duchun, falsely charged to Americans, also have a striking parallel in the brutal mass murder of 12,000 Poles by the Russians in Katyn Forest early in World War II.

Many of the Poles were tied to trees and shot through the head before being dumped into a huge burial pit. The number and pattern of bullet marks in the execution trees indicated the victims were used for pistol-shooting practice by the Russians, according to a congressional investigating committee

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—This is the time when the thing to say is that the people should forget their differences and unite behind a new leader.

This is the time when the loser, with tongue in cheek, congratulates the winner and wishes him luck.

This is the time when the people are told to eschew bitterness and start working together for the "common cause."

But somehow there is an artificiality about it which many persons know in their hearts is a species of insincerity and hypocrisy.

For how can anyone forget a lie, a distortion of truth, a baseless accusation launched merely to get votes?

How does one forget the act of a President of the United States who violates the security rules of his own government and gives out a secret document just because he thinks it will help his side politically?

Debate Must Go On

How does one overlook those who profess high principle and denounce others for alleged misdeeds or "sneers," when they themselves keep up a steady flow of innuendo with accusations of implied dishonesty against a candidate just because he doesn't choose to respond to their demands for information on his private affairs after he has stated publicly that he has made full disclosure?

How does one ignore the fact that men of education, men of learning, men who teach in our colleges, issue statements during a campaign full of misrepresentations designed to win and yet are the first to denounce the politicians who—on the altar of expediency—surrender their convictions to get votes?

All these questions on the day after election cross the minds of some of us who are supposed to preach harmony. If by "harmony" is meant to forget and forgive sin, while at the same time failing to prove to the sinner that he has erred at all, then not much can be accomplished for the future of morality.

The debate must go on. The facts must be brought to the surface. The guilty some day somehow must be punished—there is no other way to elevate the morality of government and provide the deterrent against those who may otherwise be tempted to follow the same lines of deviation on the theory that nothing serious will happen to them.

Again and again the press of the nation or of a given state or city has backed the man who lost, but this does not prove that in the long run truth has not prevailed. In some situations it takes a long time to uproot evil. The fight isn't won, however, by temporizing with wrongdoing just because there is no immediate victory at the polls.

Too much of the campaign just ended was fought by each side on a tragic assumption that was best phrased in the words of the late Harry Hopkins of New Deal fame—"The people are too damn dumb to understand anyway." So he declared the New Deal strategy was "to tax and tax, and spend and spend, and elect and elect."

But truth has a strange way of catching up with untruth. There is no reason in the world why, the day after election, convictions should be surrendered and principles thrown into the discard. The essence of representative government is the check which an opposition party applies against the party in power. Opposition may be distasteful at times and irritating, it may even go to unpalatable extremes, but it serves a constructive purpose on the whole. Without vigorous criticism, there is no restraint against abuse of power.

The Sad Truth

For in the election there is no victory in the sense that 25 million or more voters triumphed over another group of almost the same size. There is no victory worth cheering about if one set of speech writers merely devised cleverer phrases or slogans than the other or if one group of politicians sized up the superficialities of the electorate and hammered home points by over-emphasis or distortion, while the other group failed to apply its distortions or misrepresentations at the opportune moment.

The contest in political wits affords no satisfaction to the voters generally. The public has to be convinced that the right man and the right concepts of public policy won out, and it will take months and months for this to be proved or disproved.

The sad truth is that most people don't take an interest in what is happening in their national government except for a few weeks during a Presidential campaign. It is not a matter of education—for some of the best-educated persons are not well informed—they are too busy with their own pursuits to read any more than sketchy headlines or summaries. Good government can come only when more people become informed—and then distortion and misrepresentation will boomerang and the so-called "high level" campaigning on issues and facts will come into its own.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — Reports reaching the National Production Authority indicate that business conditions are better now than at any time this year. At least a minor boom appears to be in the making.

This may seem to contradict declines in the stock market, reductions in business earnings and other signs that markets in 1953 may move downward slightly.

Yet NPA officials say the nation has nothing to fear on the economic front if the steel industry may be taken as a correct barometer of the trend.

The agency reports receipt of what it calls "anxious inquiries" from virtually every type of industry demanding additional steel to meet new demands.

Among consumer goods, NPA says production of clothes dryers, gas and electric ranges, food freezers, lawn mowers, metal household furniture, ash and garbage cans, mattresses and bedsprings are in on the rising production spiral.

This is the way NPA Chief R. A. McDonald sizes up the situation: "Small appliance makers report that they will not have enough steel to carry them through the peak production season before Christmas."

"And remember the reports of heavy inventories of refrigerators headed by Rep. Ray Madden of Indiana.

Some State Department officials believe that the current GI "atrocity" propaganda by the Communists may be their answer to the Katyn expose. The Voice of America did a remarkable job airing the Katyn murders behind the Iron Curtain.

Our broadcasts on this were so effective, in fact, that Foy Kohler, administrator of the Voice of America, has received numerous requests for reprints from behind the iron curtain. The reprint which Kohler is proudest of came via the underground from a courageous lady in Moscow.

Nixon And Veterans' Exemption

Senator Nixon has denied a recent statement that Mrs. Nixon signed a veterans' exemption petition in 1951. In this he is right.

Mrs. Zita Remley, deputy assessor of Los Angeles County, informs me that Mr. Nixon signed the petition in 1951 and Mrs. Nixon in 1952. Mrs. Remley states that in 1951, she received an application for veterans' tax exemption, notarized in Washington, and signed by Nixon, on the Nixon property in Whittier.

A veteran in California is given a reduction of $50 on his taxes if he and his wife jointly own property valued at less than $10,000. At that time, Nixon listed a house in Whittier, plus an automobile, plus $400 worth of bonds, and since the total came to more than $10,000, Mrs. Remley said the application was disallowed.

In 1952, Mrs. Remley said "Pat Nixon" signed the application on behalf of Richard M. Nixon and since the value of property in California was less than $10,000, the application was approved.

just a few months ago? They have disappeared, and the refrigerator manufacturers have indicated they need more steel now, long before their heaviest production season."

Cry For School Aid

A new drive for federal aid to education and technical research seems in the offing.

The impetus behind the campaign is a speech which Army Secretary Frank Pace made recently before the National Education Association in Washington.

He warned that Russia, though she still has a long way to travel, is beginning to catch up with the United States in its superiority in scientific research, technological potential and education.

Best bet is that any new drive will concentrate on getting more financial and other types of federal aid for schools from the primary grades through universities and from American industry engaged in scientific research.

Voice of Experience

Senator Mike Monroney (D), Oklahoma, has gotten big-league experience to help him polish up his proposals for legislation to curb headaches of political candidates such as the difficulty of getting radio and television time.

As chairman of the speakers bureau of the Democratic National Committee, Monroney was in close contact with the troubles he hopes can be eased by legislation.

One of the delicate problems that is certain to be up for debate when Congress gets around to talking about how campaigns should be run, is the matter of radio and television time.

Some campaigners think clarification is needed on the "equal opportunity" understanding. Although broadcasting stations are under no obligation to grant "political" time in the first place, if they do, they must give the same chance to both sides.

A baffling question is what to do about putting a political speech on and cancelling a scheduled commercial broadcast. This adds to the cost and sometimes risks the indignation of listeners who might prefer the regular program.

Monroney proposes that specified time be set aside each week, on which candidates would have a priority over others and which would be available at "regular" rates.

Rep. Walt Horan (R), Washington, is talking of a bill under which stations which have no power to "censor" political broadcasts, be exempted from slander and libel suits which might grow out of a candidate's speech.

GOP Victory Ends 20-Year Demo Grip On Farm Vote

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The farm vote broke a 20-year Democratic grip in yesterday's national elections and returned to its traditional place in Republican ranks. Since 1932, this powerful bloc of votes had gone against Republican presidential candidates largely because Democrats set up and main-er on the basis of such issues as the Korean War, charges of corruption and communism in government, inflation and taxes. Democratic Standard Bearer Adlai Stevenson and his party leaders had counted heavily on the farm vote repeating performances of the past five presidential elections. Four years ago, midwestern farmers gave President Truman a big assist in his upset victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Fear that the GOP would weaken the farm programs probably influ-

4-H Trail Name Committee Members, Add To Programs

Additional county project committee members and program suggestions were made at the meeting of the 4-H Trail officers, recently at the home demonstration agent's office.

New Recreation committee members are Shirley Miller, Christina McKenzie, Eleanor Smith; Clothing, Mildred Ann Hughes, Nancy Long; Home Furnishing, Charlotte Richardson, Eleanor Proudfoot; Food and Nutrition, Lucille Aaron and Wilma Vandevort.

Additions to programs include, for clothing, hints on styles and posture, and a demonstration on planning a wardrobe and clothing construction demonstration; home furnishing, color and table setting, mainly making place mats, more flower arrangements; food work, baking projects of bread and pastry with one meeting to serve an entire meal; and for home management, drawer and closet arrangements.

To mark National 4-H Week, Nancy Long made a recording for the only county-wide observance. A county-wide recreation meeting with folk dancing will be held in the spring.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Spring Gap spoke on "Winter Bouquets," and showed the Home Furnishing chairman how to give the demonstration. She explained the flowers and weeds which can be dried. She used both in an arrangement in a tall container with the flowers accentuating the color of the vase; and a very low one for a table with a different color scheme. Chairmen will give the demonstration at the November meetings.

The next Trail meeting will be February 7.

Yesterday's meeting was to discuss their jobs as chairmen. A film strip, "Troop Commitment to Work," was shown.

During the questionnaire period the topics were 'how they could carry out their jobs; help leaders in relation to finding new leaders; as program consultants and organizing troops where needed; helping girls in providing opportunities for camping and other outdoor programs.

Mrs. Milton Beneman presided. Approximately 18 leaders from Cumberland, Ridgeley, LaVale and Cresaptown, attended.

Farm Bureau Women Elect, Pass Resolutions

The Allegheny County Farm Bureau and Associated Women elected officers, passed three resolutions and had two guest speakers at the annual county-wide meeting last night at the LaVale firehall.

Floyd Buser, Oldtown, was reelected president of the Farm Bureau; Ivan Wilson, Midland, vice president.

Three directors were also named. They are Dale Mann, Piney Plains; Roy Shryock Jr., Oldtown; and Jacob Teeter, Flintstone.

Miss Ruth Clauson, Hazen Road, was re-elected president of the Associated Women, with Mrs. Marshall Porter, Eckhart, vice president; Mrs. Marion Apple, North Branch, secretary; Mrs. Marvin Hinkle, Hinkle Road, treasurer. The directors are Mrs. Charles Harvey, Upper Georges Creek; Mrs. Hinkle and Mrs. Apple.

The first resolution is to do with the C and O Parkway. The committee stated that the city of Cumberland is known as the Gate Way to the West, and under the existing conditions the state roads leading through the city from the east are antiquated in comparison to other main arteries of transportation. It favors the construction of the C and O Parkway which will provide adequate transportation for a minimum amount of money and sacrifice a minimum amount of productive farmland.

Farmer's share of the consumer dollar is the topic of the second resolution. It states that one of the most important problems facing agriculture is rural-urban wild life, both for themselves and hunters. They are concerned however with the action of irresponsible and careless hunters. It recommends legislation be enacted that anyone convicted of hunting while intoxicated or destroying live stock or domestic fowl, or destruction of human life have his license permanently revoked.

Albert O'Neal offered the invocation and Mr. Buser extended the welcome. Group singing was led by Mrs. Harry Barton with Mrs. Marjorie Chambers at the piano. Routine reports and those of the Constitution committee were given. Mrs. Lloyd B. Shaw conducted an immemorial for Mrs. Wilbert Paul, Mt. Savage and Fred Knippenberg, Irons Mountain.

Wilbert Smith, state officer, spoke with encouragement for the farmer's outlook in the future. L. S. Hartley, manager of the agricultural department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, spoke of the relation of the farm organizations to transportation. A social hour concluded the evening. Approximately 100 attended.

The next activity of the Farm Bureau is sponsoring a Talent Find, December 5 at Bedford Road fire hall.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—There have been, in the past, countless guide books written about Manhattan — and there will be more, in an endless stream. They will tell you which are the best hotels, what's the best time to call El Morocco for a reservation, how to get theater tickets and where to park your limousine. The error that most of these handbooks make, it appears to me, is one of omission. They don't seem to realize that everyone who comes into this snake pit can't afford the best hotels, couldn't pay the entertainment tax on an El Morocco tab, wouldn't dream of shelling out $6.60 for a theater seat and haven't limousines or even scooters to park. Now comes Simon and Schuster number of restaurants where an arm and a leg are not required payment for dinner. And Cummings and Jones do not give with the old, standard guide-book line about "Now here is a delightful little restaurant where you will enjoy." For example, in discussing Seventeen Barrow, a Greenwich Village eating house, they say candidly "The first time the food and music will be perfect, the next, Stravinsky's "Rites of Spring" will blow you out of the place and the food will be disappointing." Or, of the Athens Chop House on downtown Sixth Avenue: "Undistinguished in appearance. You'd never want to take a date here for dinner, but some of the luncheon specialties are worth mentioning."

I have wished in the past that New York guidebook writers would remember that the majority of those lost souls coming here to live are young and broke. Cummings and Jones have done so. They also have included some concrete generalizations about New York that are pertinent—the fact, for instance, that a girl shouldn't take a room or apartment out in the suburbs because "few men are enthusiastic about a week-night trip to the suburbs." And they add this most valuable tip: "No matter what you do the first two weeks in New York, your costs are going to exceed both your expectations and your low budget by far."

To those coming to town this autumn—and they have begun disembarking from the buses and trains already—I would like to say solicitously, "Don't come. Heartbreak is around every corner here." But I know it wouldn't work—not if they had tried it on me 20 years ago, anyway—so I can only recommend "New York on a Modest Income" as a pretty good primer.

"Modest Income" offers a good list of Salvation Army secondhand furniture stores and a longer list of check-cashing services. This latter is almost a must to the impoverished newcomer to the city who has no bank account. Manhattan bank tellers have the fishiest eyes and the flattest "No's" in the world when you come to them, check in hand, and try to exchange it for coin of the realm.

There are listed the names of a half-dozen good grocery stores and the back of the book has a sizable

When is a lass old enough for lipstick and high heels? Here is a cross-country opinion.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Only during the teen-time of her life does a femme long for the accoutrements of the years ahead of her. During these years, youth is what she wants least of and any withholding of the symbols of adulthood constitutes what seems to be real persecution. There is no doubt about the heartbreak underlying the following letter from one of my young correspondents:

"Don't you think a girl who is fourteen is old enough to wear lipstick and high heels at least at parties. I can't but all my friends can. I feel just like a ghost rider with my pale mouth when all the other girls have on make-up. And my fit-hee, baby "party" shoes make me just plain ashamed. How can I convince my parents that I'm old enough for such things?"

BAKED BY NABISCO • NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Of course, the best thing a girl can do when caught in such a predicament is to try to prove to her parents how grown up she really is. If she takes over the care of her room and keeps it as well as her mother could, it's a step in her favor. If she fulfills every promise she makes, it is another point. And if she quietly discusses her wishes and problems with her parents without resorting to tears and impassioned pleas, there should be no doubt about it; she has earned the right to do what all the other girls of her age are doing. But if she does not act old enough to seem anything but silly in such grown-up trappings as lipstick and high heels, she should skip them for a bit. At least until she possesses sufficient judgment to use lipstick artistically and the degree of grace to manage high heels successfully.

A cross-country survey shows that, in general, girls are allowed to use a little lipstick and face powder on dress-up occasions after they reach thirteen. But rouge and eye make-up are out until after high school is completed. Low-heeled pumps but not necessarily flat heeled styles have the party-party look until a lass is past fifteen.

Any boy is embarrassed when seen with a girl dressing definitely beyond her age. Sequins, black satin or any other cosmopolitan fabrics, gobs of costume or real jewelry or "bank-account" furs are things no student of the "social sciences" would be caught wearing during her high school years.

Moorefield Women Hear Heritage Talk

Hawse Is Speaker At Club Meeting

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Stanley Hawse, assistant superintendent of schools, spoke on "Our American Heritage" at the November meeting of the Moorefield Women's Club held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. G. Muntzing.

The Youth of America must have the same freedoms that we have had throughout our history—our Material, Intellectual, Political and Religious freedoms. On the verge of a national election, he stressed that the right to govern ourselves was a precious privilege and quoted John Greenleaf Whittier, "The world has not money enough to buy the power in my right hand."

He brought out the fact that the hope of America lay in the youth of the country and they must be given an understanding of the American Heritage so that there may be a rebirth of lost freedoms.

Nation's Dogs Endorse Rival; Sales Soar to 793 Million Cans

CHICAGO (RN)—You can't fool a dog when it comes to food! He knows what he wants and needs, and because the Rival Dog Food Company has given America's dogs what they want, sales of Rival have soared to 793,621,560 cans, with more millions added to this amazing total each week. All dogs like meat, so the Rival formula calls for plenty of meat, enhanced in food value with nourishing grains and other essentials. This appetizing, scientifically balanced combination is naturally rich in the vitamins, minerals and proteins which give dogs flashing eyes, thick coats, solid bone and muscle. Chlorophyllin is added to prevent breath and body odors.

A recent addition to the already huge, sun-lit Rival plant now makes it the world's largest dog food canning plant. Here, each step in Rival's manufacture is laboratory-checked to assure a wholesome food that will keep big dogs or small dogs, pups or oldsters healthy and energetic. Adv.

Games Friday
Barton at Flintstone
Bruce at Beall

A garrison finish enabled Bruce High School to eke out a 3-2 decision over Flintstone High School to win its eleventh Western Maryland Interscholastic League soccer championship yesterday at Bruce High Field, Westernport.

Trailing 2-0 at halftime, Coach Augie Eichhorn's booters pulled the game out of the fire by scoring a field goal in the third period and a penalty and field goal in the last 5½ minutes of play.

The victory, Bruce's fifth of the campaign against two tie games, gave the Westernport aggregation a total of 12 points in the league standing, and put it in a position where it can't be overtaken even though it should lose or play a tie with Beall in the final game of the campaign with Beall on Friday.

Flintstone Leads, 2-0

Robbette's field goal gave Flintstone a 1-0 lead in the first period and Clites scored from the field in the second stanza to give Coach Orville Jackson's outfit a two-point advantage at the halfway mark.

The Bruce offensive didn't get rolling until the third quarter when Carroll "Tucker" Cain blasted through a fielder Flintstone warded off shot after shot in the hectic final stanza before Percy Snyder, the league's leading point getter, boomed one through the uprights on a penalty kick to knot the score at two-all.

Foreman Wins Game

Yesterday marked the first time in seven starts this season that Bruce had yielded more than a single point a game. The newly crowned champions have rolled up 14 points to the opposition's six. The penalty goal registered by Percy Snyder was his sixth point of the season and gave him a commanding lead in the race for scoring honors.

The championship was the first to go to the Westernport school since 1948 and also was the first championship soccer team turned out by Augie Eichhorn, former Central High (Lonaconing) and University of Maryland athlete, who coached at Flintstone in 1950 prior to transferring to Bruce last year.

Nine of the members of Bruce's championship team are seniors, including eight regulars. Those who will play their final high school soccer game against Beall Friday are Paul Hayward, Bobby Shimer, Carroll Cain, Percy Snyder, Ray Ambrose, Eddie Scheermesser, Bobby Wilson, Gene Biggs and Vernon Lutman.

Beall Defeats Central, 3-2, Ties For Second

LaPorta Boots Home Winning Goal In 4th

Beall High's Mountaineers tallied a field goal in the fourth period to break a 2-2 deadlock and scored a 3-2 victory over Central yesterday at Barton in a Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League tilt.

The triumph enabled Coach "Ebbie" Finzell's Frostdiggers to tie Central's Tigers for second place in the five-team league, behind Bruce who clinched the 1952 title with a 3-2 win over Flintstone at Westernport.

The game was the final of the WMI season for Central while Beall will meet the championship Bruce eleven in closing engagement Friday at Frostburg.

Beall opened the scoring yesterday when Jim Summers put the ball through the goal posts with a drive off his head.

Central came back with two second period scores, the first by Tom Woods and the second by Gerry Lancaster to take a brief 2-1 lead, but a goal by Beall's Ronnie Rice again deadlocked the score.

Allen LaPorta banged home the winning goal late in the final period of play from a scrimmage in front of the goal posts.

Frick Outlines Majors Policy

Bonus, Waiver Rules To Change

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (INS)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick outlined today the plan by which the major leagues hope to curb their extravagant bonus outlay to rookie prospects — which he estimates reached $4,500,000 in the past year.

Frick said legislation discouraging high bonus payments will be presented to major and minor league executives at their annual meetings at Phoenix, Ariz., next month. Also to be discussed are tightening of the waiver and option rules.

The proposed new bonus rule prohibit the farming out of a player receiving more than $4,000 for signing with a league under to Class A and $3,000 for B and C. If farmed out, a bonus player would be subject to unrestricted draft by other clubs.

Frick said: "The idea is not to bar bonuses but to put a damper on senseless competition for untried youngsters. If a club finds a player who is ready to step directly into the majors and make good, it will, of course, pay him a big bonus. But under this rule, it is going to be very sure he has the stuff."

Giants, 49ers Clash Sunday

Duel To Feature McElhenny, Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—The National Football League's ground-gaining champion and the rookie pretender to that throne will meet head on at the Polo Grounds Sunday and the resulting crash likely will dislodge a few rocks from Coogan's Bluff.

The meeting between the New York Giants and San Francisco 49ers features a pair of highly effective runners, Eddie Price, who won league rushing honors last year, and Hugh McElhenny, who leads Price in this season's duel.

It also brings together the San Francisco team which leads the league's National Conference and which lost its first game last week, and the New York club which is tied with Cleveland for the American Conference lead.

Martin Favors Okla. Sooners

May Be Upset By Irish Saturday

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Every-one has his own idea as to which is the nation's best college football team.

Sometimes the idea is based on chauvinism, which is a two-bit word meaning my dad can lick your dad and because I see a lot of my dad and know he can lick anybody in the world. Blind loyalty, in other words.

Sometimes the opinion is based on cold analysis, using a blend of comparative scores, man-power, attack and defense and coaching.

And sometimes it is just based on a hunch, much as a horse player might place his two bob on No. 7 in the seventh race because he had been married seven years and had seven little exemptions.

Our own current choice, and we don't know just how we arrived at it, as the idea has just been growing from week to week, is Oklahoma, and we realize that come Saturday we may be proved to be as wrong as stealing.

The Sooners rank fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, possibly because their record is slightly smeared with a 21-21 tie with Colorado in their opening game. But don't let that fool you. Colorado plays good football, and also, the game was played at Boulder where a team not used to the altitude finds its breath coming in short pants.

The point is that the teams now ranked among the leaders all have had their tough days.

Frostburg Legion Increases Lead In Shuffle Loop

The Frostburg American Legion team increased its lead by another game over second-place Golden Nugget, also of Frostburg, by blanking the Cumberland Moose, 3-0, while the Nuggets won 2-1 over Twigg's Auto Body Shop in the women's national shuffleboard league last night.

In other results reported Woodmen of the World won 2-1 over Pocahontas, Stadium Inn, Frostburg, downed Clingerman's, 2-1, and Cresap Tavern defeated Veterans of Foreign Wars, 3-0.

High scorers were Pat Frost, Golden Nuggets, 28; Ruth Twigg, Twigg's, 15; Mary Henderson, W.O.W., 24; Esther Lancaster and Genevieve Bartlett, Pocahontas, each 16; Ruth McGuire, Stadium Inn, 31; Elsie Phillips and Evelyn Gray, Clingerman's, both 21; Freida Conner, VFW, 15; Carrie Harmon, Cresap Tavern, 25; Dot Payton, Moose, 18; and Dailey Rice, Frostburg Legion, 33.

Paul Cameron, UCLA, Named Back Of Week

Shakes Off Injury Jinx To Stand Out

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Rangy Paul Cameron, sharp-shooting passer of UCLA's unbeaten and untied Bruins, today was named the Associated Press' Back of the Week.

The six foot 185-pound tailback finally shook off the injury jinx that has plagued him all season and gave California the business full time last Saturday.

Although he had starred in UCLA's previous six victories, the junior from Burbank had played only a total of 40 minutes because of ankle and shoulder injuries.

In the big one with Cal Saturday, Paul was ready. He threw two touchdown passes and directed the ground attack that produced a third score in the 28-7 victory.

There were many other outstanding candidates for the week's honor. Georgia Tech' trio of Leon Harde-man, Glenn Turner and Bill Teas were mentioned for their play against Duke; Don Heinrich, U. of Washington passing wizard, was hailed for heaving three TD passes against Oregon State and gaining 165 yards via the air lanes; Illinois' Tommy O'Connell completed 14 passes, two for touchdowns, in Illinois' upset of Michigan; Gil Reich of Kansas scored a touchdown and threw two touchdown passes in Kansas' triumph over Kansas State.

New Racing Commission Head Seen

Shift Made Necessary By Small's Election

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—The apparent election of Frank H. Small Jr. to Congress yesterday will require Gov. McKeldin to appoint a new member of the Racing Commission and designate a chairman.

Small has been a racing commissioner since 1937 and twice chairman. Small served as chairman from 1942 until 1945 when he was succeeded by George P. Mahoney, loser in yesterday's contest for the U. S. Senate.

Gov. McKeldin named Small chairman last year. His term, to which a successor is to be named, expires in 1955.

It's up to the governor whether Small's successor becomes chairman or one of the two associate members. It's conceivable the governor might elevate D. Elfred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee to the post.

The new nominee also will be a Republican like Small. State law requires that the minority party be represented on the commission and the Democrat now is H. Courtenay Jenifer.

Rinehart was appointed to the commission last year by Gov. McKeldin. He used to be president of the Hagerstown half-mile track.

The chairman is paid $4,000 a year and the associate members $3,000.

The Legislative Council has a recommendation for reorganization of the commission with a full-time chairman at an annual salary of $15,000. The recommendation by a sub-committee of the Council was coupled with a criticism that the Racing Commission has been weak and lax in its leadership and in its supervision of racing.

Detroit's Automotive Engineers say that cold-engine stalling has been a persistent problem for years. Under certain conditions, powerful gasolines required for today's high-compression engines evaporate and freeze moisture out of the air, "icing up" the carburetor and causing temporary stalling. This stalling is practically eliminated by the new Esso Extra Gasoline. (No gasoline, of course, can correct stalling caused by mechanical faults or electrical failure.)

ALTHOUGH he has been unable to walk for eight years, Leonard Zimmer, 44-year-old paraplegic victim of a car accident, goes hunting like the rest of us—but shooting his game from a wheelchair. When the duck hunting season opened recently, Zimmer bagged four mallards in two hours. (International

Dead Horse Wins Fontwell Derby

PONTWELL, England, Nov. 5 (AP)—A dead horse—and that's official—galloped to victory in the first race at the Pontwell Track today. Paid 6 to 1, too.

The animal, eight-year-old Crisley, was described as dead in a jockey club list of horses no longer in training sent around to the nation's tracks yesterday.

The frisky corpse came from behind this afternoon to win by a neck from No Daw, the 9 to 4 favorite in the three-mile and a quarter Craigwell Chase.

Sanders' "Paris" Homburg

Dress-Up Homburg

FASHION: For real dress-up occasions, no hat has yet exceeded the decorum of the perennial Homburg. George Sanders (left), now appearing in the screen thriller "Assignment—Paris," wears one with diplomatic aplomb.

New: There's an ingenious megaphone, now sold in Canada, with a portable amplifier that works on tiny batteries. Volume control ranges from soft whisper to echoing shout! . . . A new topcoat which, by the manipulation of zippers on the sleeves, converts into a casual cape for ease and freedom.

Dress Tips: Before using cleaning fluid on a spot on your clothes, see if a rubbing with the same cloth (another part of the garment) won't remove it.

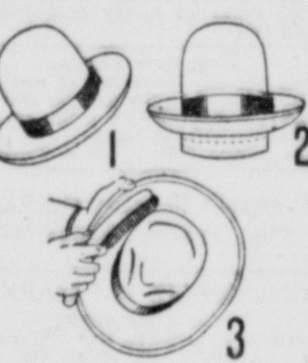

M. . . If you don't own a punch, an old-fashioned ice pick can be used to make the best holes in a leather belt. Pierce evenly from both sides.

Fast Facts: Average per capita weekly salary (men, women and children) in Mississippi is $15 against an average of $40 in Washington, D. C. . . "The American Thesaurus of Slang" shows 11,000 new slang words have come into use in the U. S. in the last ten years, while 10,000 have become obsolete. Net gain—1,000! . . . U. S. service men will consume 21,516,000 pounds of catsup in 1952.

Ten-Second Interviews: Crooner Tony Bennett—"G.I.'s have discovered that too much revelry makes for a tough reveille! . . . Business executive—"There's a real scarcity of sales personnel! (Death of a salesman!) . . . One of our fight champs—"I've never answered the first-round bell that I wasn't scared half to death!"

Handyman: Use masking tape when storing fine furniture instead of rope. It does not mar the finish. . . An ideal strainer to remove lumps and scum from paint is an old nylon stocking. . . If the stopper on a hot-water bottle leaks, wrap a rubber band several times around its top thread. . . A convenient and safe storage place for circular saw blades—the empty envelopes of an old record album.

Hat Care: Here's the proper procedure for restoration if your new (or old) felt hat gets caught in the rain: Push all the dents out of the crown (1, right). Turn up the brim and turn down the leather sweatband. Shake off all the water, stand the hat on the sweatband (2). When it has dried naturally, brush it off (3).

Pass the Cigars: This week to Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University. On the Monday following the football team's 50-0 trimming by Virginia, he held a big luncheon for the squad and told them that everybody likes a winner, but he thought highly of losers, too.

New Mt. Savage High School Is Dedicated

Dr. Pullen Speaks During Ceremonies

More than 900 residents and well-wishers were present last night for the formal dedication of the new Mt. Savage High School.

The dedicatory address at the ceremonies in the school auditorium was given by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools. He was introduced by Charles L. Kopp, retired superintendent of county schools, under whose direction the $1,600,000 building was constructed. Kopp was presented to the audience by Ralph R. Webster, present county superintendent, who presided.

Gives Invocation

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation to open the ceremonies. Then, Ellen Jenkins, president of the Mt. Savage Student Council, gave the salute to the flag. The audience then sang the National Anthem under the direction of Jack E. Platt.

Superintendent Webster introduced Kenneth R. Malcolm, president of the Allegany County Board of Education. Malcolm presented the new building to the community and Alfred H. Benna, principal, who delivered a brief acceptance speech. Mt. Savage had been without a high school 12 years.

A musical portion of the program followed. The Senior High Chorus, a group of 60 boys and girls, directed by Miss Marilyn Ashbaugh, sang "Camp Town Races," "Home On The Range," and "Home of Hope and Glory."

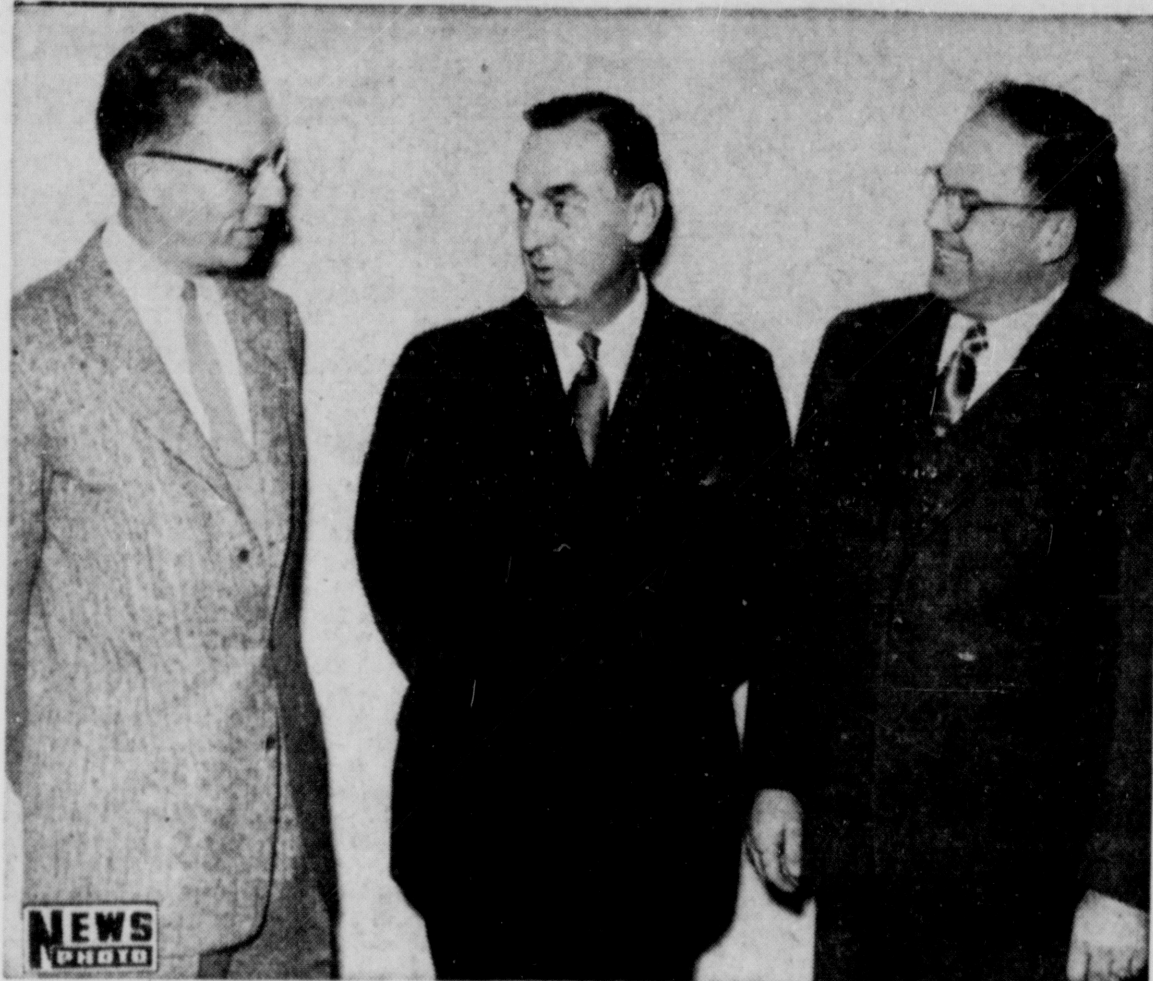

Introduces Guests

Dr. Pullen's talk was next and then Webster introduced the various distinguished guests on the platform. Included were William H. Lemmert, James Holmes and James Orr, members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners; the six Allegany County members of the House of Delegates, Charles M. See, Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Lester B. Reed, Noel Speir Cook, Estel C. Kelley and Fred B. Driscoll. State Senator Robert B. Kimble sent a telegram of regrets on his inability to attend.

Reed introduced the bill in the House of Delegates which provided for construction of the new school, and had urged construction of a school at Mt. Savage for a number of years.

Also introduced were Dr. B. O. Coberly and Harry Poland, trustees of the new school; three other members of the Board of Education, Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Edward J. Ryan and Mrs. Stanley Buckley; J. O. Kefauver, former principal of Mt. Savage School; William A. Douglas, representing the George F. Hazelwood Company, general contractors for the building; S. Russ Minter, architect, who prepared plans for the structure; Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of county schools, and Rev. Michael Smyth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Mt. Savage.

NEW SCHOOL DEDICATED—These three men had important roles in the dedication ceremonies last night for the new Mt. Savage High School. Left to right, they are Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of county schools; Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools; and Alfred H. Benna, principal of the new school. Webster presided at the ceremonies, Dr. Pullen delivered the chief address and Benna accepted the new school.

National Publication Tells Story Of Cumberland Road

The October issue of "American Highway," a national magazine published quarterly by the American Association of State Highway Officials, carries an article about the Cumberland Road and features a painting of stage coach travel at The Narrows in 1840.

According to the magazine article, the National Pike or Cumberland Road as it is named by statute, was the first important road to be built with federal funds in the United States. The magazine also features the first iron bridge built in this country on the Cumberland Road 72 miles from here at Brownsville, Pa.

President Thomas Jefferson appointed commissioners who selected the location of the road, now known as U. S. Route 40, following the old portage path across the Allegheny Mountains from tidewater on the Potomac River at Cumberland to the nearest practicable head of navigation on the Monongahela branch of the Ohio River at Red Stone Old Fort, Brownsville.

RETIREES—Thomas R. Samuel, 532 Woodside Avenue, a shop watchman at the Bolt and Forge Shop here, retired October 24 after 24 years of service with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. He is serving his third term as president of Local 439, International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, Oilers and Shop Laborers and was a former local committeeman for that organization for 13 years. His wife died suddenly one week before he was to retire, and he plans to make his home with a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Morris, Dellmore, L. I.

Women Jurors May Be Called In January

Now that the voters of Allegany County have endorsed jury service for women, it appears likely that some women may be called for jury duty during the January term of Circuit Court.

Chapter 142, Laws of Maryland, 1951, which provided for a referendum on the question of jury service for women, stipulates that it shall become effective immediately upon passage.

In Tuesday's election, unofficial but complete returns showed 14,556 votes in favor of jury service for women and 9,167 opposed. About 10,000 of those balloting Tuesday did not express themselves in this matter.

The panel of grand and petit jurors for the January term of court will be drawn sometime in December. Presumably the names of some women will be placed in the jury box and could be drawn for service. The law providing for the referendum does not state that women must serve on juries. It simply states the matter of sex shall have no bearing in the drawing of juries.

B'nai B'rith Will Hear Rabbi Uman

Rabbi Samuel Uman of B'er Chayim Congregation will address the monthly meeting of the Western Maryland Lodge of B'nai B'rith at 8:30 tonight in the recreation room of Beth Jacob Temple.

Plans for activities for the fall season are to be discussed and arrangements made for the annual New Year's Eve dance, to be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Bewildered Md. Demos Looking For New Leader

Must Pick Up The Pieces After Defeat

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Bewitched, bothered and bewildered, Maryland Democrats looked around desperately today for a leader to pick up the pieces.

They couldn't see one immediately through the debris of the party's collapse in yesterday's election.

About all that was left as a foundation of the high and mighty organization of just four years ago is Baltimore City and even that showed weakening.

Who would take over the rebuilding job was a matter of only vague speculation. Among the possibilities mentioned were Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, and J. Millard Taves, state comptroller.

Byrd May Be Possibility

But doubts hung over two of them as aspirants for the job. D'Alesandro doesn't have solid support even of all the Democratic leaders in his own city. Dr. Byrd has been mentioned time and again as getting officially into politics, but he never has.

It might well be that the Democrats will wander around under local leaders until 1954 when they will select a candidate for governor and whoever he may be will become the nominal leader.

At that time, Dr. Byrd's position should be known because it is believed by many that he wants to run for chief executive of the state. The same guesses go for Taves.

And there's always the possibility that George P. Mahoney will have another go at it. If Mahoney had been elected Senator yesterday the regional bosses who gaged at the thought would have been forced to recognize him as their leader.

Della, Turnbull Longshots

The jockeying then might bring forth a compromise candidate. In this category are George W. Della, president of the State Senate from Baltimore, State Senator John Grason Turnbull from Baltimore County and State Senator Omar (Gus) Crothers of Cecil County.

Della and Turnbull both have been mentioned as long shot probabilities for governor. Turnbull is in position to make a bid as Democratic leader in Baltimore County as successor to the late H. Street Baldwin and thus be in line for bigger things. Della already is one of the state leaders both as a boss in South Baltimore and as president of the Senate.

Crothers is serving his first term in the State Senate, but is one of the foremost members as chairman of the powerful Judiciary Committee. He could be casting eyes on the attorney general's job, now open on the Democratic side since the recent advancement of Hall Hammond to the Court of Appeals.

Big Guns All Gone

The Democrats actually have been without a strong leader since W. Preston Lane was beaten for governor two years ago. The past campaign was run by E. Brooke Lee, a one-time big shot who was

Library Display Features Ike

The Cumberland Free Public Library yesterday changed the display in its show case to one honoring President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A large picture of Ike, a copy of Life magazine featuring the GOP standard-bearer on the cover, and a number of books pertaining to the general are included in the display. Among the books are Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe," "My Three Years With Eisenhower," the personal diary of Capt. Harry C. Butler, USNR, naval aide to Ike from 1942 to 1945, and "Soldier of Democracy," a biography of Eisenhower written by Kenneth S. Davis.

With returns in from 2,662 of the state's 2,841 precincts, Kilgore had a commanding 445,012 to 386,710 lead over Revercomb, 57-year-old Charleston lawyer. Revercomb served one Senate term, from 1943 to 1949.

Closest of the other Congressional contests were in the First and Second Districts.

Robert Mollohan of Fairmont, winner over veteran Rep. Robert L. Ramsay in the Democratic primary last May, defeated former Rep. Francis J. Love of Wheeling in the First by about 7,000 votes.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers won a third term in the Second, where his margin over Kermit R. Mason of Morgantown with 395 of 518 precincts reported was 58,673 to 55,396. Mason conceded defeat.

Weather

Temperatures jumped into the 60s yesterday but forecasts predict colder weather for tonight. The Weather Bureau reports partly cloudy and mild today with highest readings between 55 and 65 degrees becoming colder tonight. High temperature yesterday was 64 according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 24 and at 9 p. m., mercury stood at 45. Humidity at 6 p. m. was a dry 28 per cent.

Liller To Cast Electoral Vote For Ike And Nixon

An Allegany County man will cast one of Maryland's nine electoral votes for Dwight D. Eisenhower as President and Richard M. Nixon as Vice President of the United States.

He is Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown, who was named presidential elector for Maryland's 6th District in June.

The Free State votes will be given to Eisenhower and Nixon as a result of the overwhelming mandate of 493,957 votes cast for the Republican candidates in Maryland.

According to latest figures, Maryland's nine electoral votes will bring the Eisenhower electoral total to 442 votes from 39 states. The Stevenson-Sparkman ticket last night had 89 electoral votes from nine states.

Liller, a native of Mineral County, has been a resident of Cresaptown since 1912, and has been active in Republican politics for the past 29 years.

An active business man, he is president of the Mineral Coal Company, one of the pioneer strip mining firms, heads the Liller Construction Company and is a farmer and dairyman.

He has been a personal friend of Governor McKeldin for a number of years and was one of the Governor's principal supporters in Western Maryland.

All American Is Asked To Extend Line

Stops At Cumberland, Hagerstown Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner today recommended additional service for All American Airways and a seven-year renewal of its operating certificate.

The air line now serves 45 cities in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware.

The recommendation, by Examiner James S. Keith, now goes to the board for action after oral arguments.

The examiner suggested new routes for All American with new stops at Cleveland, Ohio, Erie and Reading, Pa., and Huntington, Clarksburg and Elkins, W. Va.

At the same time, he recommended suspension of All American service at Butler, Pa., Conneville-Uniontown, Pa., Dunkirk, N. Y., and Bridgeton-Millville-Vineyard, N. J., due to the lack of traffic and other reasons.

All American's present certificate is due to expire next January 11. In suggesting its renewal, the examiner said the air line was "making substantial progress toward the goal of self-sufficiency."

In terms of passenger volume, he said All American serves a greater market than other feeder carriers.

Under the recommendations, All American would serve Cumberland, Md., on its route between Pittsburgh and Washington, with Hagerstown as an alternative stop. However, the air line could serve both Cumberland and Hagerstown.

Huntington, W. Va., would be provided with its first air services to Parkersburg and Wheeling, W. Va., and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The examiner's decision also recommended suspension of service by other air lines: American Airlines at Erie, Pa., and Huntington, Parkersburg, Clarksburg and Elkins, W. Va.; Trans World Airlines at Lancaster, Pa., and Wilmington, Del., and Capital Airlines at Harrisburg, Williamsport and Reading.

Area Man Sentenced For Parole Violation

A Frostburg man was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction last week in Allegany County Juvenile Court on a parole violation charge.

Magistrate Alban C. Thompson said the area husband had appeared in Juvenile Court several times on charges of non-support of his wife and minor child. Sentence was suspended in the previous charges.

USO-Chest Fund Pamphlets Will Be Distributed

Agencies, Boards, Services Listed

Approximately 18,000 pamphlets containing information about Cumberland's USO-Community Chest fund campaign will be distributed to local business establishments, employees, teachers and churches, according to Edwin M. Brown, campaign director.

The pamphlets' first pages are headed: "For USO and our Community Chest... $105,977.76—Who Says So?" Brown explained the literature lists the names and telephone numbers of 157 members of the boards of the Community Chest and its nine member agencies.

Lists Names

Besides giving information on the services performed with the annual campaign funds, Brown said, the pamphlets list names and phone numbers, inviting the public to call any of the listed individuals who will answer any questions they may have.

Brown pointed out that neither the Community Chest nor its nine agencies have any secrets. If anyone has a distress case to report, a question to ask, a complaint to register, he will find a friend or acquaintance on the pamphlet list whom he may call. Here are the boards and agencies and a rundown of what services they perform:

The Community Chest Board supervises and assists the nine established, approved local service agencies and raises the funds necessary to carry on their work. Board members are elected annually by subscribers.

The Campaign Budget Committee, approved by the Chest Board, makes a thorough investigation of each agency's service record, its expenditures and its needs for the coming year. Such a study assures a justifiable sum for each agency, but no money to waste. The total of agency budgets plus campaign and year-round Chest office expense is the campaign goal. This year the goal is $105,977.76.

Young Men's Christian Association carries on a huge program serving the entire community. It is Cumberland's Community Center, with 425,854 persons using the building during the past year. Boys, girls, men and women making up 3,636 members, participated in one or more phases of the program. It gave 193 youngsters complimentary memberships, had 283 social events for youth groups, with 47,142 attending, and 143 community groups with 34,518 attending.

VICTORY SMILES—J. Glenn Beall (right), popular Frostburg Congressman, flashes one of his biggest victory smiles as Governor Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin pumps his hand after learning that Beall has won election to the U. S. Senate over Democrat George P. Mahoney of Baltimore County. Said the governor: "I am delighted at the victory of my good friend, Glenn Beall, which is really a victory for the people of Maryland." Beall will be Allegany County's first Senator in 56 years.
